

MESPA/MESPEF ANNUAL FALL CONFERENCE PRINCIPALS SUPPORTING PRINCIPALS

Kim Marshall began his career in 1969 teaching sixth graders in a Boston middle school During Boston's desegregation crisis in the mid-1970's, Kim became increasingly involved in schoolwide change efforts, delved into the new research on effective urban schools. Later Kim worked in the district's central office, first as a policy advisor and speechwriter for Superintendent Robert Spillane, then leading a team that wrote new curriculum objectives for the district, and finally serving as director of curriculum and planning.

In 1987, Kim finally got his wish and was made a principal of the Mather Elementary School for the next 15 years. Kim now works for New Leaders for New Schools (www.nlns.org), a non-profit that recruits, trains, and supports urban principals. Kim coaches new principals in New York City, with a special focus on improving teacher supervision and evaluation and the effective implementation of interim assessments. He has published numerous articles on education and particularly evaluation. His Marshall Memo is widely read and appreciated.

When: Friday, November 6, 2015
Where: MESPA Education Center, Marlborough

Time: 8:45 AM – 3:00 PM (Registration begins at 7:45 AM)

Registration Deadline: October 22, 2015

Course #: 16-301

MAJOR MINDSHIFTS for PRINCIPALS

Kim will discuss recent major mindshifts in education and how they are specifically impacting principals. He will share ideas about how principals can effectively address these shifts while maintaining positive, meaningful learning environments.

Two sessions of breakout workshops will follow - offered by active principals on implementing the four Administrator Standards

The two sessions will feature four workshops each from which attendees can choose. Among possible topics are: Documenting evidence of practice as an administrator in the education evaluation system, building online professional learning networks, enhancing building leadership teams, and implementing the "unconference" approach to professional learning.
